Average first year depreciation of the Ford car is $125 as against $250 to $400 for practically any of the lower priced cars.

It is difficult to set any definite figure for the depreciation of an automobile. So much depends on the condition of the individual car at the end of the season.

The average price paid for used cars in the $1000-or-less class at any time during the first year is about $250 to $400 less than the first cost. But the average used Ford sells very quickly for $125 less than the purchase price

Compare the Ford depreciation cost of about $10 a month with the probable $30 or more a month that the other kind will cost you. Which is the better investment?

Interesting Letter From "Sniper" Charlie Roy

Somewhere in Belgium, June 16th, 1916.
DEAR BARTLEY—As we are at present out for a well-earned rest, I thought it a good opportunity to write and thank you for The Enterprise, which I receive regularly. Believe me, it is sure appreciated by some of us boys, including Hugh Robinson, of Frank, and Lieut. William Bryan, son of Lieut.-Col. Bryan, of the 191st.

Well, Bart, we sure have been seeing life the last couple of months, including St. Eloi and the third battle of Ypres among our engagements. After the 3rd Canadian division had stood all that any troops could stand, and stopped Fritz's third try for Calais, we were withdrawn from here and sent to their relief. We marched up to the trenches through poor old Ypres. I only wish you could see it. It sure is some ruin. I have wandered around through it and failed to find a single house untouched. The cloth hall and cathedral were magnificent buildings but now, except for a couple of immense, well-lit towers, are distinguishable only by the large blocks of masonry and ragged edges of walls. If destruction was his object, Fritz sure did a tidy, thorough job. Well, during our time at the battle, Fritz made an attack on our position from which our boys stopped before they reached our trenches. We were also actively concerned in the re-taking of the ground which the Canadians had lost previously. See, our artillery are there. They opened up and it seemed as though the trenches held by the Germans were on fire, so intense was the fire our guns turned on them. For a couple of hours all that could be heard was the crash and roar of artillery. Both sides went at it "hammer and tongs." A man's life doesn't seem to count for much when the big guns start to roar. Well, after a while our trenches were badly smashed; but say, old Fritz's were obliterated. Our boys hopped over and pushed up the hill, recapturing all that had been lost, also a bunch of prisoners. One prisoner we captured told us that they knew all about our sea victory, about their losses at Verdun. He said he expected the war to end in August next—IN OUR FAVOR. Among the later prisoners captured, some told us that they had no reason for the previous four days. I forgot to say that they all expected to be shot, as they told us that their officers drill it into them that we kill all prisoners. During the early morning of the attack, before it was properly daylight, our boys saw a line of Hun coming towards our trenches. Well, thinking it was a counter attack, they turned on the machine guns, and all but about fifty had been killed before our boys could see that they were unarmed and wished to surrender. You will comprehend how hopeless things must seem to them when, after being told they will be shot, they take a chance and surrender to us. After the Scotches, Fritz seems to fear the Canadians most. Well, I guess we have given him reason to.

Say, now's this for records: After nine months' trench warfare, we have never lost an inch of ground, and only one man has been made prisoner by the Huns. Some batt, eh? I saw Jack Patterson, and he was telling me the names of a few of the boys from the "Crows" in his company who are missing. We hope that many of them are prisoners and not killed. Those are their names: From Bellevue—Giff Miller, Doc McLeod, Charles Burgess and Jack Longworth; from Frank—Fred Parker; from Blairmore—Dan Leslie and Itanor Comfort. I also met "Cokey" Boscey, of Bellevue, and Sam Patterson and Bill Archer, of Blairmore, all of whom are alive and well.

I am still on the old job of sniping, and am managing to grab one now and then. We have had rotten weather lately, and during the mix-up the water in the trenches was up to our knees. "Gott strafe the wet weather!"

Appeal to Alberta For Serbian Relief

So many demands have been made on public generosity as a result of the war that there might be hesitancy in presenting another if the needs were not so great. The Canadian public have met all demands nobly, but it is still safe to say that those who are staying at home in peace are contributing very much less than those who have gone to fight for the cause of human liberty. Compared with some of the unfortunate countries of Europe Canada scarcely knows she is at war.

One of the most unfortunate of the little nations, in whose cause our empire has taken up this great fight, is Serbia. It was the spirit of the Serbian people, which refused to allow itself before Austria and Germany, that was used as a pretext by those nations for this war, and Serbia has suffered for her liberty perhaps even more than Belgium, although the distress of the Serbian people has not been so prominently before the Canadian public.

The recent visit of Mrs. Pankhurst to Calgary, resulted in the organization of a branch of the Canadian Serbian Relief Society with Mr. J. S. Dennis, assistant to the president of the Canadian Pacific railway, as president and Rev. Cox Clarke, of Calgary, secretary-treasurer. A committee of prominent men and women complete the organization and an appeal is now made for funds to assist the families of our destitute allies in Serbia. Contributions may be made in goods but cash is preferred as it can be forwarded more quickly and gives more immediate relief.

The need is very great and it is felt that this appeal will not fall unheeded by the people of Alberta. Already some substantial contributions have been received, and others, sent either to Mr. Dennis, or to Rev. Cox Clarke, 509 18th Avenue West, Calgary, will be prominently acknowledged and at once placed in the way of assisting a noble people who are reduced to destitution by the ravages of war.—EX.

Italy to Wage Offensive From Now On

London, June 25.—Rome despatches reporting the maiden speech of the new Italian Prime Minister, Paolo Rossielli, before the Chamber of Deputies, emphasize the determination of the Allies to wage an offensive war from now on.

Suggesting great significance in the present Italian offensive, Premier Rossielli said, and cheers: "Italy intends to continue the same policy pursued by her Allies. We intend now on to intensify the war until the final and decisive victory."

On practically every front except Verdun and a small sector in Volhynia allied armies are now on the offensive. The British war office gives few details of activities along the line from La Bassée to the Somme, but despatches from British correspondents at the front report no interruption in the systematic bombardment of German trenches.

Members are reminded of the regular meeting of Crows' Nest Encampment No. 8 of the I.O.O.F., to be held on Wednesday night next, when the officers for the ensuing term will be installed.

British Columbia Provincial Election

At a provincial cabinet meeting held Thursday at Victoria, it was decided that the date for the forthcoming provincial election is to take place either Thursday, August 31st, or Thursday, September 2nd. The British war office has refused to allow the vote of provincial soldiers to be taken in the trenches at any of the fighting zones for military reasons, and no decision has as yet been received as to whether it will be practical to take the vote in the Canadian campaign. England. Sir Richard McBride, agent general in London, is in communication with the war office and a cable from him giving the decision is expected momentarily. Provided the soldiers in England are allowed to vote under the terms of the legislation passed last session, the election will be held September 7th. Otherwise the date will be a week earlier.

The Spirit of Nelson Survives

Enemy Bought and Made to Fight Whatever the Odds

When Vice-Admiral Sir David Beatty ran in with a battle cruiser squadron and engaged the main battle fleet of the enemy, he fought as Nelson might have fought, and probably not according to modern rules of calculating a battle by mathematics. He risked much and suffered heavily in men and ships. The enemy, however, probably lost no less heavily, and the British admiral came within an ace of making the biggest score for the Allies since the outbreak of war.

The difference between a battle cruiser like the Queen Mary and a battleship is mainly in armor-plate defence. The battleship is protected by walls of nickel steel armor-plate of maximum thickness. The battle cruiser has thinner armor-plate, and all vital parts are encased in the thickest armor-plate shields. The battle cruiser has a greater range of action. Weight on the battle cruiser is kept down for the sake of speed.

The German battleship Westfalen, sunk in the battle of Jutland, had a maximum thickness of 11 1/2 inches of armor-plate. The Queen Mary, had an armor belt tapering from nine inches at the fore to only four inches thick at the stern and aft extremes. At a range of eight miles, where the heavy guns of the Queen Mary would be vulnerable to the Huns' lighter guns of the enemy battleships. The 11 1/2 inch armor of the Westfalen, and the 9 3/4 inch belt of the Pommeren, an older German ship, was hampered by the British guns. But the British squadron, the German prize in doing what they sought to do, to wit, holding up the main German battle fleet and forcing it to fight.

Even the German battle cruisers have heavier armor defence than the British. One of the biggest German battle cruisers, the Derfflinger, reported to have been sunk in the battle, has an armor belt of 13 inches thickness amidships. There are three or more of this class similarly protected, and it is possible one of the three, either the Lutzow or the Ersatz Lutzow, also sank down in the years ago. One was observed on Beatty to blow up amidships and sink. The British ships passed on in a sinking condition, while they were chasing the flying German fleet, and it had disappeared when they returned.

The German first line ships generally have armor plate protection heavier than the British, and for a reason. The German admiralty sacrificed fuel and stowage accommodation for the sake of more armor-plate. The German warships are designed to fight in the North Sea against an enemy near their naval bases. They are often and in smaller quantities. The British ships, until a few years ago, were not designed against the enemy. They were built to carry bigger loads of coal and other supplies. More of their total displacement consequently went into fuel and stowage.

The British ships kept the sea; and they also kept alive the spirit of Nelson. The British navy, to seek out the enemy wherever he might be, and make him fight whatever the odds. Beatty has been doing this, day by day, week by week, month by month, since August, 1914. He has been before him has happened on the enemy first line ships and hammered them back into their mine and gun havens. This time he managed to get between them and their safe retreat. The German battle cruiser numbered and outwitted the British battle cruiser squadron. The British ships steamed into the fight, fought the German navy for five hours. The arrival of four British battleships, the Barham, Valiant, Malaya and Warspite, caused the whole enemy battle fleet to make general engagement with the British first line of battle would have meant the end of the German navy. The British navy would welcome nothing.

GIRL COULD NOT

How She Was Relieved from Pain by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Taunton, Mass.—"I had pains in both sides and when my periods came I had to stay home for a long time. One day a woman came to our house and asked my mother why I was suffering. Mother told her that I was suffering every month and she said, 'Why don't you buy a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' My mother bought it and the next month I was so well that I could go to school without staying at home a day. I am in good health now and have told lots of girls about it."—Miss CLAUDIA MOORE, 22 Russell Street, Taunton, Mass.

Thousands of girls suffer in silence every month rather than consult a physician. If girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a safe and pure remedy from roots and herbs, much suffering might be avoided.

Lloyd George's Life

The Minister of Munitions is Now Located in new Quarters

He doesn't say as much as formerly, but there is no member of the Cabinet who says in so many hours' work as Mr. Lloyd George. He has moved from his personal staff from Whitehall Gardens to the offices of the Ministry of Munitions in Whitehall Place. These offices include the premises formerly occupied by the Hotel Metropole. Considerable alterations have been made inside the hotel, and luxury has given place to business furniture. Mr. Lloyd George has selected for his own use a singularly modest room on the second floor. In this room the Minister of Munitions still uses his novel inkstand, which consists of a shell case, in which holes are pierced so that pens may be inserted.

How an American Paper Views Work Accomplished by Canada in Enacting Prohibition Measures

Before it had received the news of the British Empire, it is in the prohibition movement in the Province of Ontario, the "New Republic" which is the first to have enacted a prohibition law. The Ontario Anti-Saloon League, had an editorial titled "Canada's virile response" in which the editor stated that the boundary line, was referred to in the following terms:

Canada as an integral part of the British Empire, is in the midst of a struggle to the death for National existence. The best blood of the Dominion is being spilled all over the hills of northern France. The fathers and mothers gladly give their sons and daughters to the cause of the British Empire, and give up their husbands. Prosperous Alberta

The Phenomenal Growth of Agriculture in the Province

Big crops of wheat and coarse grain at high prices; herds of beef cattle with live steers ranging up to $7.50 per hundredweight; hops at from ten to eleven cents a pound; butter, cheese, milk and cream products constantly mounting; more farming and better farming, bigger crops and bigger prices—these in themselves are sufficient to explain Alberta's prosperity. But the great highway of the province is making it better understood by making some simple comparisons and a few conclusions.

In 1908, ten years before last season's crop—Alberta produced a total of 1,617,565 bushels of spring wheat, an average of a trifle under 12 1/2 bushels per acre. The winter wheat crop was 2,290,000 bushels, or an average of 11.55 bushels per acre, and the total wheat crop was 3,907,565 bushels, or an average of 12.5 bushels per acre, according to the Dominion government returns.

Almost equally remarkable has been the development of other grain crops. In 1908 the oat crop was 8,500,000 bushels; in 1915, 19,105,000 bushels. Barley in the same period increased from 1,775,000 bushels to almost 6,000,000 bushels, or from 5,337 bushels to 1,124,000. Taking these two principal cereals the comparison is as follows: 1908 crop—13,437,333 bushels. 1915 crop—16,720,000 bushels.

But the figures do not tell the whole story of the growth of grain crops. Within the last ten years, wheat, oats, barley and flax, unsupervised by the farmer, have grown up and found that they can grow where crops which were not attempted ten years ago, or which were not grown in such small quantities that they did not figure in the returns. Among the crops so classified may be mentioned, for example, last year's enormous crop of 53,000 bushels, and alfalfa totaling in 1915 over 34,000 bushels. Other crops of importance were potatoes, 5,150 bushels; turnips and other root crops, 1,536,000 bushels; and flax, 67,600 bushels, fodder corn, 5,700 tons; hay and clover, 311,000 tons.

But the permanent prosperity of Alberta is not wholly dependent upon its crops. The district which is now known as the "fertile triangle" of the stock interests before its possibilities in grain production country was generally realized. The growth of stock production are not so easily the following taken from the government returns, are sufficiently accurate to give a fair idea of the growth of the stock interests before its possibilities in grain production country was generally realized. Something About Heavy Guns

The German Seventeen-inch Naval Gun Theory Has at Last Been Exploded

As to the big 17-inch naval gun theory, that was soon exploded. The French had fouled the position of the gun that was firing into Dunkirk and photographed it. It was found to be not a naval gun at all, neither was it a 17-inch calibre. It was only a German 15-inch siege howitzer embedded in concrete and rigidly set at its maximum elevation so that it could not be actually aimed, but merely fired haphazard in the general direction of Dunkirk. Its purpose was merely to frighten. People in French towns soon got used to these big shells, their effect soon wears off, and they do not cause so much damage after all as one would be led to suppose. Thus the theory of Mr. Douglas rebounded on his own head.

Even such experts that even if the Germans had ships armed with the 17-inch calibre, the most powerful warship under a hail of shells. From the Toronto World.

With an irate smile she arose and looked into his eyes. "And who is that, sir, may I ask?" "Why, you, my dear," he gently answered, as he removed his feet from the table.—New York Globe.

Heroic Newfoundlanders

A. J. Gallishaw in the Century Magazine.

The foremost advance on the battle front, Donnelly's Post on Caribon Ridge, was made by Newfoundlanders. It is called Donnelly's Post because it is here that Lieut. Donnelly won his military cross. The illustrious hero of the war from which the Turkish machine guns poured their concentrated death into our trenches stands as a monument to the initiative of the Newfoundlanders. It is now Caribon Ridge, as a recognition of the men who wear the deer's head badge. From Caribon Ridge the Turks could enfilade parts of our firing line. For weeks they had continued to pick off our men one by one. You could almost tell when your turn was coming. I know because from Caribon Ridge came the bullet that sent me off the peninsula. The machine guns on Caribon Ridge not only swept parts of our trench, but commanded all of the intervening ground. Several attempts had been made to rush those guns. All had failed, led up by the murderous machine gun fire. Under cover of darkness, Lieut. Donnelly, with only eight men, surprised the Turks in the post that now bears his name. The captured machine gun he used to repulse constantly launched bomb and rifle attacks.

Just at dusk one evening Donnelly made out to Caribon Ridge and surprised the Turks. All night the Turks strove to recover their lost ground. Darkness was the Newfoundlanders' ally. When re-inforcements arrived, Donnelly's eight men were reduced to two. Dawn showed the havoc wrought by the gallant little group. The ground in front of the post was a shambles of piled up Turkish bodies.

But daylight showed something more to the credit of the Newfoundlanders than the taking of the ridge. It showed one of Donnelly's men, Jack Hynes, who had crawled away from his companion to a point about 200 yards to the left. From here he had all alone kept up through the whole night a rapid file on the enemy's flank that duped them into believing that we had men there in force. It showed Hynes purposefully falling back over exposed ground to draw the enemy's attention from Sergeant Green, who was cooly making trip after trip between the ridge and our camp, carrying a wounded man in his arms every time until all our wounded were in safety. Hynes and Green were each given a distinguished conduct medal. None was ever more nobly earned.

Memorial Address

(Address delivered by Edward C. Keith, at Hillcrest, on the second anniversary of the battle of Vimy, in memory of those who lost their lives in that event.)

Mr. President and Brothers: It is just and proper that we should lay aside the instruments of toil to pay our respects to the memory of those, our brothers and our friends, who while engaged in the performance of their duty answered the call that sooner or later must come to all of us. This is the second anniversary of the day on which our hearts were moved to their most profound depths and when words utterly failed to measure the grief of those bound by the ties of blood and bone to those stricken ones. We who passed through the horrors of that and the succeeding days can never efface from our memory the suffering of the afflicted ones who were suddenly made the discovery of one more of their loved ones. This was an event which aroused the sympathy of the whole nation, and generously they laid their offerings at the feet of the bereaved. For this we are thankful and have extended to them our appreciation both as an organization and as individuals.

Some of those who were stricken by the sorrows of that event have returned to the bosom of their earlier days, and the friends of war-torn friends. Some, we are pleased to know, still remain with us, and should there be any present I desire to express, the hope that the future years will be brighter and filled with richer joys and greater blessings than had fallen to their lot in the past. We have tried to do our duty to those left to the mercies of society, but we have failed in any way it has been a mistake of the land and not of the heart.

In the future, as we travel along the rugged pathway, let us not forget the lesson that this great disaster taught: the lesson of man's responsibility in his relations to his fellow man. Not one of us lives to himself alone, although we may not be conscious of the fact, and every one of us is helping to mould the character and lives of those about him, and through them society as a whole. Each of us by our daily work is helping others to accomplish the task set for them to perform, and it is a duty we owe to ourselves and our associates that we give our best according to the light that is ours.

All cannot fill high positions in life. Some of us must toil with our hands and our bodies, but that should not in any way detract from the honor which is due to all with our hands as to use our brain alone. Labor when performed in the right spirit is one of the noblest things in the world, and he who does not so regard it is unworthy to fill a place of influence in society. To some who fill the higher positions of trust is given the task of looking after the safety and prosperity of the whole, and he is wholly unworthy of his position and of the confidence of his fellowmen if he does not do all within his knowledge and power to protect the lives and promote the safety of those with whom he is associated.

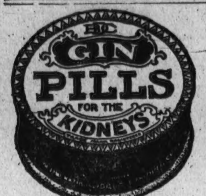

It is to the credit of this organization and kindred organizations that the honor of labor have been shortened, and that the appliances pending to protect the worker have been adopted. Every one knows how long and at times how bitter has been the struggle to obtain these things. Rarely, indeed, have those in power yielded to the demands of those beneath them without a struggle. Humanity is selfish and grasping. Given the opportunity man will clutch to self-interest and power over the fallen wrecks of their fellowmen. Nearly all reforms have arisen from the demands of the poor, and middle classes. Search the pages of history and you will find that the ruling classes have always claimed the right to rule, in part on account of their professed superiority and in fact they have deemed it a mark of Divine favor to assert as such. Yet, in the end, it has been found that the only way to secure peace and order is to give the people a share in the government. When they have yielded their power or granted to their subjects a greater degree of liberty it has been when they have been forced to do so by the power of the people. It is an irony of fate that the history of the human family, which we have been climbing slowly from the plains of savagery to the place we occupy today have been millions of people who have been willing to sacrifice their lives at the request of those who have made that statement. Truly, mankind has been moving in darkness and sorrow all these thousands of years. It is a matter of time when we may be justly proud that part of us at least require no priest or potentate to think for us. We may question if we like, the statements made by them, and there is no one to deny us the privilege. This is a part of the great heritage of liberty that our forefathers have laid down their lives for upon a thousand battlefields, and to which, in this day and hour, our brothers and our sons are paying the fullest measure of devotion to preserve and to send down to the ages with not one jot of its grandeur tarnished or destroyed. We should be proud and glory in the truth that we have outgrown the ignorance and bigotry of the centuries that have gone; that we live today in a free of our men, be he who may; that under the laws of the Creator we have the right to live and enjoy the blessings of liberty so long as we are worthy to maintain them. This is the whole world is striving, for which we will never be peace until this goal is attained. We know the price has been paid in the past to obtain this liberty for us and today we see the cost in human lives and sorrow—to preserve it. And what of the future? Is the future, like the past and present, to be filled with desolation and sorrow? Has not humanity progressed sufficiently far that it can throw aside those forms of government whose rulers are not responsible to the people who govern? If not, future generations will be compelled to repeat the struggle that exists today. National greatness and honor rise no higher than the ideals of those who comprise the nation. If the people are dishonest, untruthful and unfaithful, the nation will be in its character those untruthful and it may be expected that such a nation will suffer as a result. We ought to have more sympathy, to enter more deeply into the life of the people of other parts of the world, to give them our best intellectual efforts, that they may be enabled to rise above the ignorance and degradation in which they live.

The richest possession that you and I and the nation in which we live can acquire is character. When life's evening have been tossed, drifting, it may be, without chart or rudder, until at last we have passed over the breakers into the still waters, and in the distance see the harbor light toward which all humanity is bound, it is then we shall find in character a sustaining power and a source of strength which surpasses understanding. We may acquire the habit of doing as the way roll by, and die; we may acquire gold and land, but when the great call comes to give an account of our services, these are left behind with the dust of earthly ambitions; but character, that possession that lifts us above the sensual and low, that makes us scorn unmanly deeds, that elevates us to the highest plain of thought, and life, and death. This is the object for which we should diligently search through all the years of our lives. When that bright day comes that all possess this priceless jewel, then will there be no more strife between man and man, nation and nation. And, until we meet again, upon the anniversary of this day, let us pledge our efforts to grow in those qualities that enrich our character, let us lay flowers upon the graves of our misguided efforts and ever keep our eyes toward the goal of a perfect life.

Oil Of Orilene Will Reduce Weight A Pound A Day

is many inches. — If you suffer from, excessive fat, stomach or liver disorders, perhaps you do not know your trouble may be due to lack of oxygen in the blood. — How to tell

If you will make an actual test of all people who are fat, you will find that the blood is exceedingly poor in oxygen. The blood is the life-giving power of the body, and without oxygen the blood loses its power to properly stimulate your food and consequently your flesh instead of being firm, plump and healthy, becomes flabby, soft and loose. As a result of this blood starvation you become fat and slow, generally weakened, all run down and soon get to a point where the least exertion leaves you breathless and sweating like a porpoise. In all such cases it is worse than to suffer from indigestion, heart disease, or other ailments, as this will only whip up your vital powers for the moment, making it the expense of your life later on. And you must not continue to put on weight. Dr. Orilene knows fatty degeneration of the heart, or kidneys is exceedingly dangerous. No matter what anyone tells you, if you are fat you are overfed to make the following many steps: first, deep breath and then use Orilene capsules, one after each meal and one each time for two weeks then pause the use for a week. You will be surprised to see how much lighter you will feel on your feet. People who are fat and ailing all the time may double their strength and endurance and reduce weight in a pound a day by simply taking all of Orilene capsules. Oil of Orilene capsules are designed to increase the little red corpuscles in the blood making it possible for the blood to carry more oxygen, supplying the body with more life more vitality and more vigor. Enviably Position Of Merchants' Bank

Annual Report Shows That This Bank is Constantly Being Placed on a Stronger Financial Basis

The Merchants' Bank report for twelve months ending April 30, 1918, shows a very material strengthening of its position. While improving its already very considerable percentage of quick assets, the Bank naturally had to suffer a decrease of profits. These however have been better than might have been supposed and were sufficient to pay the regular dividends even after liberal contributions to Patriotic and Red Cross Funds, and the payment of almost Sixty Eight thousand Dollars as War Tax on Circulation.

Including the balance brought forward from last year, two hundred and forty-five thousand dollars, the Net Profit after full provision for all charges, etc., amounted to almost twelve hundred thousand dollars.

While the Shareholders will feel specially gratified at the public at large will rejoice especially at the very large percentage of the quick assets, which amount to $40,000,000, being in excess of 50 per cent of the Bank's total liabilities to the public. Of this amount no less than sixteen millions are in coin, Dominion notes and other cash equivalents.

As an indication of improved conditions, one notes an expansion of about one million and a half in Loans and discounts—in Call Loans, while notes in circulation have increased by about twelve hundred thousand dollars. Deposits are at high water mark standing at 72 millions, almost 10 millions more than in 1915.

It is of interest to note that the fifty million mark in deposits was passed by this Bank only in 1910—so that in the six years an improvement in this head of almost 50 per cent is noted.

The report is another proof that War conditions have not without their compensations as now that the first shock is over conditions are notably better than previous to Aug. 4th, 1914.

Miller's Worm Powder were devised to promptly relieve children who suffer from the ravages of worms. It is a simple preparation warranted to destroy stomachic and intestinal worms without shock or injury to the most sensitive system. They act thoroughly and painlessly, and though in some cases they may cause vomiting, that is an indication of their powerful action and of any nauseating property.

First Aid Work

Valuable Work Being Carried on by the C. P. R. Centre

"A most successful course notwithstanding the general depression." This is the pleasing statement contained in the sixth annual report of the Canadian Pacific Railway Centre of the St. John Ambulance Association. For the twelve months, ending September 30, 1918, no less than 1,648 passed qualifying examinations out of a total of 2,664 who presented themselves for instruction at the classes.

In all the departments of the C. P. R. Centre of the Association which spreads over the country, a greater zeal than ever was manifested for the support of the superintending officials of the C. P. R. is in no small way responsible for a good deal of the advancement made. With the course of training offered, and now no less than 522 ladies have taken out the certificate of qualification from the Association.

Under the auspices of the C. P. R. Centre instruction was given to the Borden Battery and Ammunition Column before leaving Montreal for the front. Afterwards the certificates of merit were presented to the officers and men by the Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught.

An important feature of the work of the C. P. R. Centre was the training of a large number of lady clerks of the C. P. R. in touch with the Red Cross Society, an organization to which they proved a valuable asset.

Three men were saved from drowning at Winnipeg by W. T. Davis, P. R. ambulance instructor, and William Newcombe, C. P. R. constable. Sir Donald Cameron presented the medal of the Royal Canadian Humane Society to each in recognition of their bravery.

Particulars were obtainable of 3,750 cases where first aid had been administered by members of the C. P. R. Centre. The cases were thus divided: Atlantic Centre, 9; Eastern Division, 100; Ontario Division, 136; western lines, 3,440.

Concluding the report the C. P. R. Centre pays a glowing tribute to the late Lieutenant-Colonel Lacy R. Johnson, who had been chairman of the Centre under review and also of the whole Association. During his time as chairman nearly 7,000 employees of the C. P. R. passed the qualifying examinations, and in this way made themselves better citizens of the Dominion.

Dutch Cattle For Starving Germans. Among the many statements that are published with regard to Germany's resources, some facts have been collected since the war began, now being adopted to meet an admitted shortage of foodstuffs.

The exportation of cattle from Holland, that stopped some time ago, has been resumed, and in two days 7,000 cattle were shipped into Germany from Rotterdam. Most of the cattle were for breeding. An official statement was issued from Berlin intended to allay the anxiety felt in some quarters as to the next harvest. The report was, naturally, reassuring, and stated that the prospects of the crops in Belgium, Courland, and other parts of occupied territory were excellent, from which it is inferred that the intention of making the needs of the civilian subservient to the needs of the army will be carried out rigidly, and Belgium will be made to shift for herself.

No other navy in the world owns so much to one man as the German navy owns to Tirpitz.

But what civilization will never forgive is that he is responsible for the policy of submarine warfare, and that at his instance atrocities like the torpedoing of the Lusitania were committed. From that brand of infamy his reputation, however great in other respects, can never be cleared.

The Meaning of Economy

The roof fact is that there are not enough things to go round for carrying on this war and at the same time for living at home is if we were at peace.

One of the other mistakes, and if we are to win the war it is in the standard of living at home that must yield. Economy does not mean hoarding money; it means releasing capital, and with it labor, for satisfying private and domestic needs, in order to apply them to the production of things and the maintenance of services required by the war. All expenditure on unnecessary things directly capital and labor from that source is lost. Surely there is no difficulty in understanding that—London Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK WOMAN SAYS USE DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Mrs. Patrick Williams Tells How Her Headache and Weakness Vanished When She Used the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Simeon, Kent, C. N. B. (Special)—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the great relief and weakness I found in Dodd's Kidney Pills."

In this is the message Mrs. Patrick Williams of this place sends to suffering women all over Canada. Like many other women she dislikes talking about her troubles, but she feels she would not be doing right to let others suffer who she had learned from her own experience how great is the relief and how easy is the cure to be found in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Nine-tenths of the weakness and suffering women bear so bravely come from the kidneys. The kidneys are the filters of the blood. They are the purifiers of the blood. They are the purifiers of the blood. They are the purifiers of the blood.

The West's Coal Resources

Enough to Supply the World for a Century

According to estimates recently published in The Calgary News, there is enough soft coal in the four western provinces of Canada to supply the world for a couple of centuries. The mines of Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia have already been tapped as yet, and have produced a total in one year of around 6,000,000 tons, with a value of over $15,000,000.

The Alberta and Saskatchewan coal fields—which are having a big development of this kind has been more or less delayed on account of the financial situation caused by the European war; but there is no doubt that in the future the power question of the prairie provinces will be largely settled by the inexhaustible supply of coal available in these provinces. The Dominion Geological Survey has estimated that the coal beds of these provinces with Eastern British Columbia, contain a total of 143,430,000,000 tons, covering an area of 22,500 square miles.

Poverty Amid Plenty

An English traveller writes: The hotels in Russia are greatly overcrowded by refugees from Poland and the other war zones, and the wise traveler is he who can get a room at least a week beforehand, and, if possible, through friends. In Petrograd it is apparent that the supply of food as well as of fuel is irregular, and in many cases insufficient. This is mostly due to the lack of railways as there is plenty of food in this enormous country, but the difficulties in the way of transporting it from the provinces make it so that it is almost insurmountable.

Said one of our leading merchants recently after reading the war news: "I see Germany is to have a food dictator. I've been married to one for some years."

A Generous Indian Prince

Although the State of Kutch in India is classed among the poorest, the ruling Rana is without a rival in his devotion to the British cause, and to the cause of the allies. As soon as war broke out he rushed to the Viceroy and said that his kingdom was at the service of the Empire, and he has lived up to that profession.

He has sustained a regiment at the front, which has cost him 45,000 rupees per month. He has been a notable contributor to the war of the Patriotic Funds, in addition to contributing from five to six lakhs of rupees to the general war fund.

"How does the breakfast suit you, John?" inquired the young bride anxiously.

"It's just right, dearest," said her husband. "It may be delicious, but I'm awfully fond of cabbage liver for breakfast."

"So am I, dear," said the wife. "Oh, John, don't you think it would pay to keep a cabbage liver for breakfast?"

"I suppose so," answered John, "but I tell you it's awful being so close to one."

Cecil on the Blockade

Difficulties and Triumphs of Navalism

Are Frankly Discussed

Interviewed by a Paris newspaper, Lord Robert Cecil, "Blocked Minister," said: "It is the intention of the British Government to cut off her food supplies from abroad. In my opinion we have already accomplished a great deal in this direction. We have absolutely paralyzed the German export trade, German credit abroad is rapidly sinking and her imports are decreasing."

As you know, Germany is forced to rely upon her neighboring countries for her food supplies from abroad at a time when she cannot possibly produce enough food at home. The great difficulty we meet is to distinguish between the imports which are essential for the maintenance of the neutral countries and those which by devious ways are smuggled into the enemy's country. Whether we adopt what is known as a regular blockade or continue to strengthen the measures which we have already taken, this difficulty remains the same.

You will probably agree that while we are justified in destroying the commerce of Germany, it is equally true that we must respect the rights of all neutral countries. If we do not want to sink perilously near to the level of Germany in the eyes of the civilized world, without losing sight of the fact that we are fighting for our national existence, we also remember that we are also fighting for the existence of civilization, and we may, we are justified in destroying the commerce of Germany, it is equally true that we must respect the rights of all neutral countries.
